PUBLIC NOTICE

Review of alcohol restrictions in the City of Sydney

The City of Sydney is auditing all alcohol restrictions in our local government area. The audit will include approving the extension or removal of the restrictions listed below for the next four years, and creating a common expiry date.

Alcohol restrictions aim to prevent anti-social behaviour by prohibiting the consumption of alcohol in public spaces. Alcohol-free zones apply to streets. Alcohol prohibited areas apply to parks and other public spaces.

People found drinking in an alcohol-free zone or alcohol prohibited area can have their alcohol confiscated by police.

Alcohol prohibited areas are marked with an * below.

Alcohol restrictions

The following streets and parks are proposed to be alcohol-free zones or alcohol prohibited areas 24 hours a day, seven days per week from 2016 to 2020.
