DECISION

BACKGROUND

On 19 December 2013, the NSW Government adopted the Sydney City Centre Access Strategy (Access Strategy). The Access Strategy will deliver a fully integrated transport network in Sydney’s City Centre that puts the customer first and meets the growing transport task. It will mean more people use public transport to access the City Centre and it will change the way people move around within it.

The Access Strategy considers all transport modes and demonstrates how light rail, buses, trains, ferries, cars, taxis, pedestrians and cyclists will interact in the heart of Sydney. The Access Strategy also provides a clear direction for how all the different transport modes will work together in the Sydney CBD to reduce congestion, provide for future growth and improve the customer experience.

There is intense competition for use of kerbside space in central Sydney. The narrow streets and short east-west blocks limit the useable kerb space that can be safely allocated to support commercial and transport functions.

As additional commercial, retail and residential floor space is constructed in and near central Sydney, and new precincts are developed, there will be increasing demands on the available kerbside space in the CBD. The consistent management and allocation of kerbside space will ensure the street network can accommodate critical business and local needs, while maintaining the efficient operation of the broader public and private transport networks.

COMMENTS

Transport for NSW (TfNSW) is implementing kerbside changes in Jamison Street to improve servicing in this area.

The kerb spaces on northern side of Jamison Street between Clarence and York Streets are currently signposted for “No Stopping”, “Loading Zone Ticket and “4P Ticket” and “Disability Parking”. TfNSW is proposing to change parking in Jamison Street to improve traffic flow in the area. The “Disability Parking” space will be relocated to the southern side as part of the proposal.

The kerb spaces on southern side of Jamison Street between Clarence and York Streets are currently signposted as “No Stopping”, “Loading Zone” and “Bus Zone”.

CONSULTATION

Transport for NSW consulted local residents, businesses and affected stakeholders. There were 750 letters sent out with no feedback received on the proposal.
