Grants and Sponsorship - Ad Hoc Grant - NSW LGBTIQA+ Local Government Safety Seminar Series - ACON Health Limited

File No: S117676

Summary

This report proposes that an ad hoc grant to ACON Health Limited for the NSW LGBTIQA+ Local Government Safety Seminar Series be approved by Council.

On 26 June 2023, a Lord Mayoral Minute was put to Council which resolved that Council agree in principle to support an LGBTIQA+ Local Government Summit which would be attended by community organisations, including ACON and other government agencies. Council also resolved to endorse ACON's proposal for a NSW LGBTIQA+ Local Government Safety Seminar Series and requested the Chief Executive Officer consider what support the City can provide.

Over recent years there has been an increase in hate crimes targeting LGBTIQA+ festivals and events held at local government venues across Australia. Extremists and fringe groups have started to target Drag Story Time events at council libraries in Sydney, Newcastle, Goulburn and in other regional centres across NSW. Performers and council workers have experienced harassment, intimidation, and hate speech, with many performances needing to be cancelled.

In response to these incidents, the Lord Mayor will host an LGBTIQA+ Summit for community organisations, including ACON and other government agencies. The summit will be held in late 2023 or early 2024 and will provide an opportunity to identify LGBTIQA+ community issues and concerns.

ACON has also proposed to host an online seminar series in early 2024, that will bring together representatives from NSW local government and LGBTIQA+ community organisations. The seminar series will be informed by consultation with key stakeholders in attendance at the Summit. The seminar series will provide practical assistance in delivering a coordinated response to address instances of LGBTIQA+ hatred, violence, and threats to safety. The seminar series will be designed to ensure council staff and LGBTIQA+ community organisations are equipped with the skills required to ensure ongoing safety and wellbeing of LGBTIQA+ individuals, council staff, and stakeholders, when organising and participating in local community events.

This report recommends an ad-hoc grant of $40,000 in cash funding to ACON for delivery of the NSW LGBTIQA+ Local Government Safety Seminar Series. The seminar series will be held online so that these issues are addressed in a timely manner and local governments and community organisations from across NSW are able to participate.

Background

1. Over recent years, LGBTIQ+ festivals and events have experienced significant growth and visibility across NSW. These festivals and events play an important role in fostering a sense of place and connection for LGBTIQ+ communities and people. Smaller local events, often run by councils, such as Drag Story Time, Trans Day of Visibility, International Day Against Homophobia, Biphobia and Transphobia, and Wear it Purple Day, are becoming increasingly important to support and raise awareness of the diversity in our communities.
2. There has been an increase in hate group attacks targeting LGBTIQ+ festivals and events held at local government venues across Australia. Extremists and fringe groups have started to target Drag Story Time events at council libraries in Sydney, Newcastle, Goulburn and in other regional centres across NSW. Performers and council workers have experienced harassment, intimidation, hate speech, with many performances needing to be cancelled.

4. In response to these incidents, the Lord Mayor will host an LGBTIQ+ Summit for community organisations, including ACON and other government agencies. The summit will be held in late 2023 or early 2024 and will provide an opportunity to identify LGBTIQ+ community issues and concerns.
5. ACON has also provided a project proposal for a NSW LGBTIQ+ Local Government Safety Seminar Series which will provide practical advice to local government practitioners and community organisations to address the increasing acts of violence, disruption, and intimidation targeting LGBTIQ+ communities, individuals and events.
6. The seminar series will be informed by consultation with key stakeholders in attendance at the LGBTIQ+ Summit hosted by the Lord Mayor.
7. The seminar series will be held online so that these issues are addressed in a timely manner and local governments and community organisations from across NSW are able to participate.
8. The seminar series will be hosted online in early 2024, with three separate sessions delivered over a period of three weeks. Each session will run for 1.5 hours. Two iterations of the seminar series will be delivered - the first for local governments and the second for LGBTIQ+ community organisations.
9. It is proposed that Mayors from across NSW will be asked to participate, with an introduction from the Lord Mayor. The seminar series will include video presentations and discussions in a workshop format.

10. The seminar series will focus on practical strategies for hosting community festivals and events with LGBTIQ+ communities, including an overview of current threats and challenges faced by LGBTIQ+ people; sharing voices and stories from LGBTIQ+ community members and local government staff affected by harassment, intimidation, and hate speech; public safety and security measures for community events; creating safe and inclusive spaces; and the importance of collaborative approaches and partnerships.
11. The seminar series aims to achieve a joint statement from participating councils and community organisations condemning the violence that has occurred and a coordinated plan to respond and combat future instances of violence at local festivals and events.
12. ACON will conduct a post-event evaluation to collect feedback from participants and assess the effectiveness of the seminar series.
13. The proposal has been reviewed by City staff and considered an appropriate strategy for providing timely and practical advice to local government practitioners and community organisations to address the increasing acts of violence, disruption, and intimidation targeting LGBTIQ+ communities, individuals and events.
