Overview

Project Background

Location of road

As part of the development of the Alexandria Canal Depot, a new private road was built. Naming this road is important for wayfinding and access for emergency vehicles.

Wiriyagan is a word from the Sydney Aboriginal language. The word is pronounced wirr-ie-yay-gan. It describes a low-growing fruit-bearing tree, either a prostrate banksia or a melaleuca.

The use of Aboriginal language, and the choice of a resilient local endemic plant species, shows respect to the men and women, including Aboriginal staff, who work at Alexandria Canal Depot. These City of Sydney employees are directly involved in looking after Sydney's trees, parks and wetlands.

This proposal recognises local Aboriginal cultural heritage through naming and related interpretive signs.

Council resolved at its meeting on 17 March 2025 to seek community feedback on the proposed name. This is the first step in officially naming the road.

Community engagement was conducted from 14 July to the 11 August.

Purpose of engagement

To notify the community of the proposal to name this road Wiryagan Place and to gather feedback to determine community sentiment towards this proposal through multiple channels: online, onsite notices and physical letters.

Engagement findings summary

Overall sentiment

A large majority of overall respondents, 86%, supported the proposed name.

This included a submission from the strata organisation that manages the road (bcs strata) noting that the name was approved at their annual general meeting.

Outcomes of engagement

We received a total of 7 submissions during the consultation.

The Sydney Your Say page was visited 121 times during the public exhibition period.

Age

1 respondent was in the age range of 18 to 34, 1 was between the ages 45 and 54 and 1 was in the 55 to 65 age range.

Gender

2 woman and 1 man participated in the consultation.

Relationship to the area

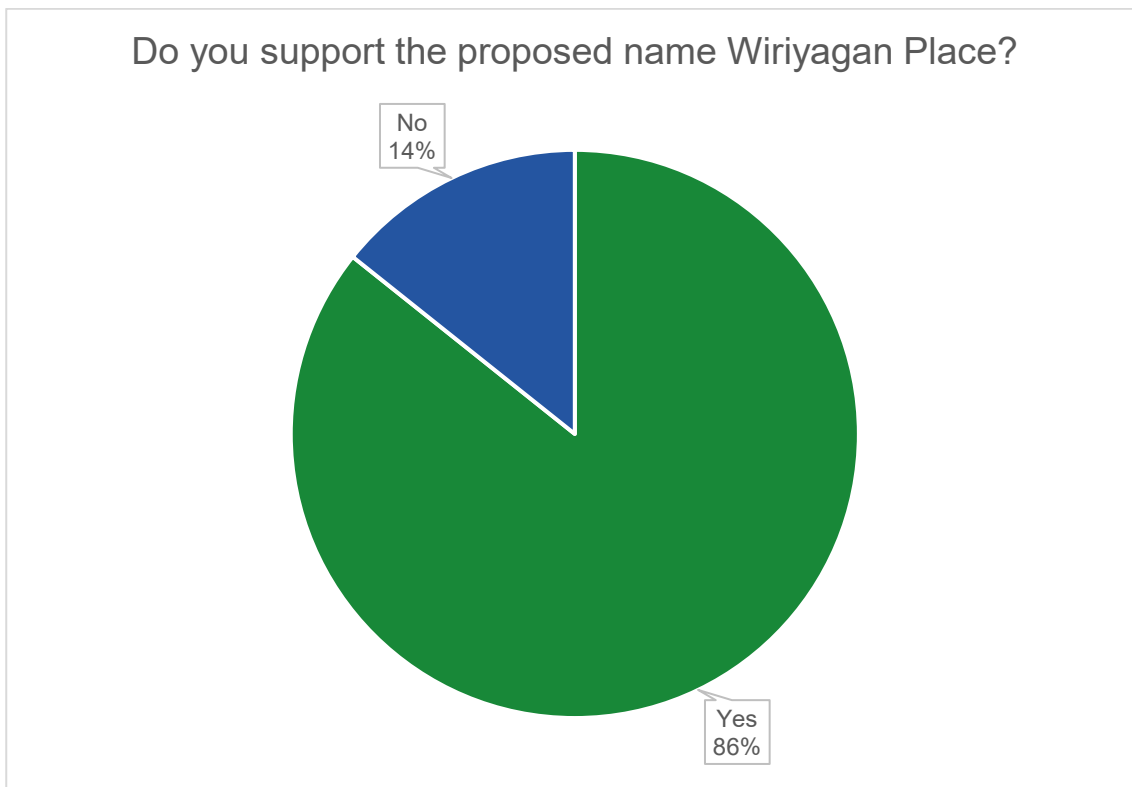

All 3 of these respondents work in the area. 1 also lives and owns property in the area.

Key findings

Overall sentiment

A strong majority of people supported the proposed name.

Overall, 6 submissions (86%) supported the proposed name and 1 submission (14%) did not support it.

Local stakeholders

The road we are proposing to name provides access to the City of Sydney Alexandra canal depot and depots operated by Woollahra Council and Waverley Council. Both Woollahra and Waverley councils were informed about the consultation and both responded, raising no objections to the proposed name.

The road is classed as a private road and is managed by the strata group bcs strata. This naming proposal was approved at their AGM held on 25 August, 2025.

Why people support or did not support the proposed name

People were given the option to comment on why they supported or did not support the proposed name. Submissions often mentioned more than one reason.

The most common reasons given in support of the proposed name were:

- Support Indigenous recognition (2 comments)
- Beautiful / cool name (2 comments)
- Support naming street with Indigenous language and local tree species (1 comment)

The reason given in opposition to the name was:

- Objection to 'virtue signalling' and names should reflect the wishes of local residents (1 comment)

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

New Aboriginal names for city spots

Trees and the night sky inspire titles for a local plaza, park and street.

© Darangara Park, Camperdown. Credit: Abril Folman.

Ngana gili Plaza, Sydney

Pronounced nga-nah-gilly. Ng as in sing.

A suspended canopy created by renowned contemporary artist and Kudjira/Gangaluman Daniel Boyd defines the plaza at 180 George Street.

The proposed name for the space, Ngana gili, means 'black light' in the Sydney Aboriginal language.

It references astronomy and the movement of the sun and moonlight seen through the circles cut out of the artwork's black canopy.

Daranggara Park, Camperdown

Pronounced durr-an-garrah.

Cabbage tree palms have inspired the name for a redesigned small park on Lyons Road.

Daranggara is the Sydney Aboriginal word for these hardy local trees planted in the park.

Wiriyagan Place, Alexandria

Pronounced wirr-ie-yay-gan.

Wiriyagan Place is a private road that connects Alexandra Canal depot with Bourke Road.

Wiriyagan is a Sydney Aboriginal language word for a low-growing fruit-bearing tree, either a banksia or melaleuca.

These are resilient plant species common in the local area.

Employees at the depot care for Country, which includes looking after these trees.

Have your say

We're recognising Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and heritage in public spaces.

These names are drawn from the Sydney Aboriginal words documented in Jakelin Troy's book The Sydney Language.

We're asking for your feedback on the new names.

You can provide feedback on the proposal by 5pm, Monday 11 August. Feedback will be reported to Council for consideration later this year.
